

Brian McGuigan is poet, writer and performer. He is the curator of the popular reading series, “Cheap Wine and Poetry” and “Cheap Beer and Prose,” and the marketing and events director at Richard Hugo House. In 2010, McGuigan was shortlisted for The Stranger’s Genius Award in Literature, and in 2008, he was a fellow in the Jack Straw Writers Program. Spankstra Press published his chapbook of poetry, “More Than I Left Behind,” in 2006. Currently, McGuigan is at work on a multimedia personal essay about his struggles with weight loss entitled “Fat Fuck,” which he has presented excerpts of at Bumbershoot, Central Cinema and Annex Theater. He has also been working on a collection of poetry entitled “Eat the Rich.” He writes short stories here and there and blogs regularly on the Hugo blog. McGuigan’s poetry and writing has appeared in City Arts, Seattle magazine, Rivet Magazine, Filter Literary Journal, Slipstream and others. He was born and raised in Queens, NY and currently resides in Seattle.